Homework#1

Insight #1 Network and Information Security

In 2016, China was in the top list of demanding network & information security related skills. It is clearly showing that China companies had been targeted by hacking activities a lot in 2015. In the other hand, Brazil was the least demanding in this skills because companies do not have proper structure to identify hacking threats

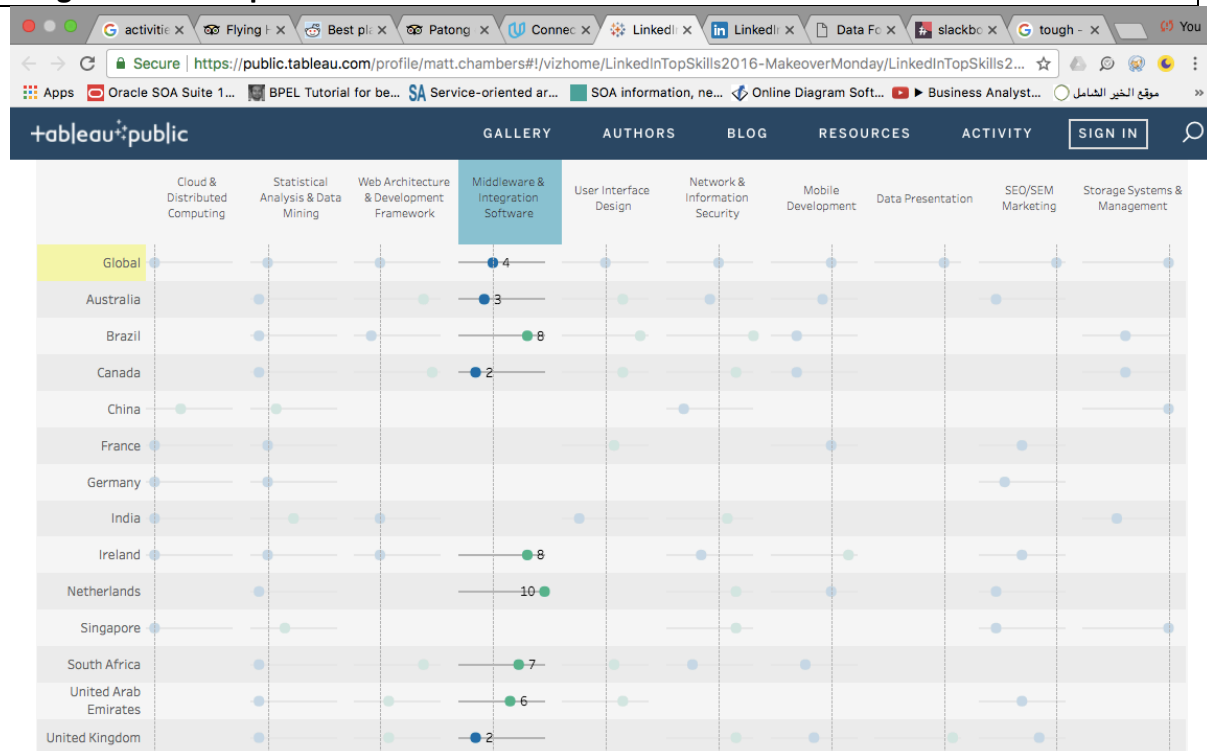

Insight #2 India top skills

In 2016, India have a great demand on candidates who hold cloud & distributed computing skills probably because big companies have switched their call centers to India and with huge amount of call and email receiving per second they wanted to have the best distributed computing power to handle this.

Insight #3 India top skills

In terms of middleware and integration software skills, Canada and U.K were the top list where candidate who hold these skills needed. It is probably because they have legacy system which need to be integrated with new one.
